-"General Grant," said a distinguished lady to the General the other day, rather confidentially, "I am just dving to know who the Cabidying of curiosity." Then the General, in a low voice, replied: "Well, Madam, that is just poles upon which the hop climbs. And what Mrs. Grant savs."

-A Washington telegram to the Boston Advertiser sava: "General Grant, in conversation this morning, took square ground in favor of the principle of impartial suffrage. He seemed gress to regulate suffrage by law, but said that there could be no sound objection to submitting a constitutional amendment to the people. He spoke of the one passed by the House on S turday as embodying the right idea, but expressed no opinion on the language therein chosen. He said explicitly that the principle of impartial suffrage is right in itself, and added that as we have, through the on the Southern States, it is only fair that the Northern States should give the ballot to their own colored citizens. He thought the question at issue had better be disposed of as soon as possible, so as to take a disturbing element out of our affairs, and indicated a hope that the amendment would be passed by Congress before the end of the present session."

-The irrepressible relict of the late President Lincoln has again failed to enlist the sympathies of Congress in her behalf. The Senate Committee on Pensions do not consider her a proper object of national charity, and in reporting against the joint resolution for her relief, they say so with as much bluntness as is compatible with common courtesy. According to the statement of one of the executors of Mr. Lincoln's will, he left to his family property to the value of nearly $100,000, to which Congress has since added $25,000 as a free gift to the unfortunate widow. It is promptly and cheaply, and must bring high thought that under these circumstances prices. she ought not to be in a state of destitution, and her plea for assistance in of a majority of the party to which her late husband belonged. The Pension Committee do not consider themselves authorized, under existing laws, to grant a pension exceeding thirty dollars per month, but with bitter irony suggest that, if Mrs. L's claim is on account of extraordinary military or anaval services, it had better be referred to the military or naval committee! This is the unkindest cut of all, as it is generally understood that the only "services" rendered by the lady have been to persons who had axes to grind at the White House, and were willing "to come down" handsomely for back-stairs help in getting them sharpened.

-A terrible tragedy occurred near Sewellsville, Ohio, last month. One Thomas Carr fell in love with a daughter of his employer, Miss Louisa Fox, and desired to marry her. The young lady being but fourteen years old the suit was denied by her parents, and Carr at once determined upon murder. He procured a razor and started for the house of Mr. Fox. when he met Louisa on the road, accompanied by a younger brother. Carr turned about and they walked together. During the conversation which ensued, the girl told him that her grandmother, whose house she had just left, had told her that her parents had determined that she should never keep his company again. The reply of Carr was that "he guessed both of them had a short time to live," adding the query, "Louisa, are you prepared?" To which she responded, "I am." Immediately after her reply he pushed her down and drew out the razor, which he had Subsequent examination showed that t'e victim's head was nearly severed from her body. The murderer returned to Sewellsville and borrowed a gun. He then proceeded by a roundabout course to a coal bank, near Mr. Fox's house, the home of the murdered girl, where he passed the night, during which he ventured to the front of the house and looked in at the front window, watching the neighbors while they prepared the body of the girl for burial. The next day he shot himself with the gun, and thinking the wound not fatal cut his throat with a shoe knife, just after which he was discovered and arrested. He will not recover from his wounds.

CHARLESTON.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 6, 1869. What is to Become of Our Sea Islands?

It is hardly necessary to say that we are not of the number of those who think that our sea islands are ruined forever, and that it is impracticable, with free labor and the danger of the caterpillar, to make the planting of long-cotton even moderately profitable. We believe that there is no sound reason why the sea islands should not be made, by the continued and judicious cultivation of cotton, as thoroughly prosperous as any district in the interior of the State; but, at the same Jime, we feel that there is weight in the arguments of the county. New York, with five hundred acres of thoughtful men who urge the long-cotton planters to refrain from placing their entire reliance on their crop of cotton alone.

We know that the sea islands are of great value, and that they can give a good account of themselves, even if it were by a freak of nature made impossible to produce upon them a single bag of cotton. fifteen years' copyright of his works, and have Advantages such as are seldom possessed by any farmers anywhere under the sun, belong to our rich sea islands. They are within easy reach of a market for purchases and sales; they have all the facilities which a high degree of civilization can give, and upon them can be grown all the fruits, vegetables and plants of semi-tropical climes. They are admirably adapted to a system of diversified agriculture. Upon them may be produced well-nigh anything, from a fat lamb to a juicy orange. Therefore is it .and not because our great staple must needs be unprofitable,-that we should not give our faith to cetton alone, and that we should endeavor to turn to the best account the latent powers of our islands, so as to have many strings to our bow and make success not prebable, but certain.

The following are some of the natural preducts which may be cultivated with profit on the sea islands and sea-coast:

First. The Esparto grass, of which we have already given some account. This grass can be grown with as much economy as hay, and now solls for about $70 per ton in United States currency. It would not be necessary to export the Esparto. The paper mills to the North and South would consume all that we could produce. South Carolina should be able to supply the raw material to every paper mill in the United States.

Second. The hop, the cultivation of which net are to be." "Are you, though," said the is very simple. It requires but little labor General. "I am, indeed," said the lady; "just except at harvest time, and is highly profitapoles upon which the hop climbs. And hops, whatever the moral condition of the freedmen, would not be stolen as other crops are. In 1850, three and a half million pounds of hops were produced in the to have some doubt about the power of Con- United States. New York reported two million five hundred and thirty-six thousand pounds and South Carolina twenty-six pounds.

Third. The Palma Christi, or castor eil plant, which should be a very valuable crop for the richer lands, and particularly the higher and well-drained rice field swamp lands. The ground is prepared as for other Reconstruction acts, imposed negro suffrage on crops, and the seeds are planted much in the same manner as Indian corn. The yield varies from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre. Fourth. The Ramie, of which we shall be able to show samples to any of our readers who may wish to try it. We shall publish some general information in regard to Ramie in a few days.

Fifth Garden truck for the markets of Charleston and the Northern cities. We believe that the same labor and care which is given to the planting of cotton would, if given to the sweet potato, yield the farmer as large an average profit as cotton itself. All vegetables may be brought to maturity on the islands weeks earlier than near Wilmington or Norfolk. They can be shipped

The sea islands are, also, admirably adapted to all semi-tropical fruits, such as forma pauperts appears to excite the disgust the erange, the lemen, the fig. (which is now a paying crop in California, and bids fair to drive the Smyras fig out of the market), the almond, the grape, the strawberry, (both of which last were successfully ship ped from Aiken to New York last spring and summer, and brought large prices), the olive, the pecan nut, (which brings about as high a price per pound as upland cotton), and many others can, and we believe will be, grown on the splendid lands of our sea islands. And we would say to our people, who cwn these lands: "Do not part Mightly with your property. It is intrin-"sically of great value, and the time may not be far off when their value will be "better known and appreciated." We may mention here an observation made by an intelligent Northern man, te show the value of the situation of our lands. He said to the writer, while conversing about the future of the South : "Why, sir, "it costs more to insure the productions of "the soil from Chicago to New York than "it does to transport them from Charleston "to New York."

We have, indeed, in our favor, everything that the bounty of Nature can give. Yet must we give the soil an eppertunity to display its varied treasures; and this cannot be done unless we determine to cultivate, not this crop or that, but every crop which hitherto kept concealed in his pocket, and pro- our lands will produce to be sold at a fair ceo led to cut her throat. The girl threw up profit. There is no earthly cause for despairing; and if we work hard, do not ig nore the fact that the world moves, and take counsel with every one who can offer a good suggestion, our once splendid lowcountry plantations will gradually improve and become at last more valuable than they

South Carolina, Vicksburg and Trans

We learn from the Vicksburg the 31st ultimo, that arrangements are being made for the establishment of a new line steamboats between Vicksburg and Shraveport. The organization, as far as the boats are concerned, is completed, and he line will go into operation at once if the agents of the company make a favorable report of the business to be looked for from Shreveport and Eastern Texas. It is not doubted that these sections will give the the and earnest support, as Vicksburg is their nearest railroad connecting point, and by the new route their trade and travel will save the time and risk of transit between the mouth of the Red River and New Orleans. The Times savs:

At Vicksburg the line of steamers will connect with the "Palmetto Line" to New York risc twith the "Palmetto Line" to New York via Charleston. This line is carrying edition from Vicksburg to New York, within seven or eight days, at the rate of $1.72 per hundred pounds, being the quickest route known to us, and there is no reason why cotton might not go from Shreveport to New York within ten to go from Shreveport to New York within ten to and there is no reason why cotton might not go from Shreveport to New York within ten to twelve days by this route, when we get the line of steamers established, nor why freights shipped by it from New York might not reach Shreveport in the same time.

But perhaps the most important thing to the two sections—Texas and Louisians, and the States lying between Vicksburg and Charleston—is the great cattle trade. Vicksburg, Jackson, Meridian, Selma, Rome, Atlanta. Augusta and Charleston will be feeding on Texas beef before three months have clapsed after the tine is made. Moreover, the high price of pork this year will cause a large demand for Shreveport and Texas packed beef, with Schmern States east of the Mississippi. Our more chants of Vicksburg are already propose to introduce this new and cheap article of plation food, and we confidently look for it to see the place of not less than one-half of the Akheretofore consumed. This will be the too, east, for the large wool and hide trae of that section, and why may we not expect to eat Texas flour here in Vicksburg?

And we may add that we see no reason

And we may add that we see no reas why these commodities should not be shipped by the "Golden Horn" line of direct steamships between Charleston and

The South Carolina Railroad Company

We print this morning, in full, the reports of the President and Superintendent of the South Carolina Railroad Company, of which we published a synopsis yesterday. These reports are the history of the road for the past year. They show the amount of business done, the cost of working the road, the condition of the rolling stock and permanent proprietor in the detection and suppression of these way, the financial condition of the company, and what are its prospects for the future. These thing they express not by words, but by hard facts; so that the stockholders may of the berry of the Italian juniper, of unequalled pusee for themselves the magnitude of the task which was imposed upon the management of the company, and judge for themselves of the manner in which that task has physicians and families in the Southern States of been performed.

We are underized to announce the wide frawal of the name of General Wade Hampan as a candidate for the office of President of the South Carolina Railroad Company.

Schiedam Schnapps.

WHEN THE PURE MEDICINAL RESTORATIVE

W 60 widely known as WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM

OFFICE OF UDOLPHO WOLFE, Sole importer of the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps, No 23 Beaver-atreet. New Your, November 3, 1868. To the People of the Southern States

CHNAPPS, was in roduced into the world under the endorsement of four thousand leading members of the medical profession some twenty years ago, its proprietor was well aware that it could not wholly cape the penalty attached to all new and useful preparations. He, therefore, endeavored to invest is with strongest possible safeguard against countereiters, and to render all attempts to pirate it difficuit and dangerous. It was submitted to distinguished chemists for analysis, and pronounced by them the purest spirit ever manufactured. Its puri and proporties having been thus ascertained, samles of the article were forwarded to ten thousand hysicians, including all the leading practitioners in the United States, for purposes of experiment. A cular, requesting a trial of the preparation and a port of the result, accompanied each specimen our thousand of the mest eminent medical men in e Union promptly responded. Their opinions of e article were unanimously favorable. Such a reparation, they said, had long been wanted by te profession, as no reliance could be placed on the rdinary liquors of commerce, all of which were more or less adulterated, and therefore unfit for aedical purposes. The peculiar excellence and trength of the oi of juniper, which formed one of the principal ingredients of the Schnapps, together with an unalloyed character of the alcoholic element, give it, in the estimation of the faculty, a marked superiority over every other diffusive stimulant as a diuretic, tenic and restorative.

These satisfactory credentials from professional nen of the highest rank were published in a condensed form, and enclosed with each bottle of the Schnapps, as one of the guarantees of its genuine nevs. Other precautions against fraud were also adopted; a patent was obtained for the article, the label was copyrighted, a fac simile of the proprietor's autograph signature was attacked to each label and cover, his name and that of the preparation were emseed on the bottles, and the corks were scaled with is private seal. No article had ever been sold in s country under the name of Schnapps prior to introduction of Wolfe's Schiedem Aromatic mapps, in 1851; and the label was deposited, as trade mark, in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York during that it might be supposed by persons unacquainfed the daring character of the pirates who prey ipon the reputation of honorable merchants by vend deleter ous trash under their name, that the pro tions so carefully thrown around these Schnapps uld have precluded the introductions and sale of unterfeits. They seem, however, only to have mulated the rapacity of impostors. The trade ark of the proprieter has been stelen; the indorseent which his Schiedam Arematic Schnapps alone ceived from the medical prefession has been laimed by mendacions humbugs; his labels and boltles have been imitated, his advertisements paraphrased, his circulars copied, and worse than all, dishonorable retailers, after disposing of the genuine contents of his bottles, have filed them up with common gin, the most deleterious of all liquors, and thus made his name and brand a cover for poison. The public, the modical profession and the sick for whom the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps is prescribed as a romedy, are equally interested with the netarious practices. The genume article, manufactured at the establishment of the undersigned in Schiedam, Holland, is distilled from a barley of the finest quality, and flavored with an essential extract rity. By a process unknown in the preparation of any other liquor, it is treed from every acrimonious and corrosive element.

Complaints have been received from the leading the sale of cheap unitations of the Schiedam Aro. make schnapps in these markets; and travellers. habit of using it as an antidote to the tify that cher gin, put up in Schiedam bottles i trequently palmed off upon the unwary. The undersigned have been requested to institute inquiries on the subject, and to forward to him the names of such parties as they may ascertain to be engaged in the atrosions system of decennon. In conclusion, the undersigned would say that he has produced, from under the hands of the mest distinguished men of science in America, proofs un answerable of the purity and medicinal excelco of the Schiedam Aromatic Schnarma: that he has expended many thousand dollars in surrounding it with guarantees and safeguards, which he designed should project the public and himself against fraudulent imitations; that he has shown it to be the only liquor in the world that can be umformly depended upon as unadulterated; that he has challenged investigation, analysis, comparison and experiment in all its forms; and from every ordeal the preparation whi. h bears his name, seal and trade mark, has come of triumphant. He, therefore, feels it a duty he owes to his fellow-citizens generally, to the medical profession and the sick, to denounce and expose the charlatans who counterfeit these evi-

UDOLPHO WOLFE. I seel bound to say, that I regard your Schnapps as being in overy respect pre-aminently pure, and deserving of medical patronage. At all events, it is the purest possible article of Holland Gin, heretotere unobtainable, and as such may be safely pre-scribed by physicians.

DAVID L. MOIT, M. D.,

Pharmaceutical Chemist, New York.

UDOLPHO WOLFE, Fsq., Present:

Dear Sir—I have made a chemical examination of asample of your Schedam schnapps, with the intent of determining if any for-ign or injurious substance had been added to the stample distribed spirits. The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixture. I have occa mable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are employed in the saulteration of liquors. I would not beetstate to use myself or to recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the Schiedam Schuspps as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of gin.

Very respectfully yours,

(Figned,) GHAS. A. SEELY, Chemist.

UDOLPHO WOLFE, Esq., Present:

Deer Siv—! have submitted to chemical analysis two bottles of "schiedam Schnapps," which I took from a tresh package in your bon-ed warehouse, and find, as before, that the spirituous liquor is tree from injurious ingredients or faisfication; that it has the marks at being aged and not recently prepared by mechanical asimixture of alcoher and are-mestics.

FRED. F. MAYER,

Uncerno Wolff, Esq.:

Dear Sir—The want of pure Wines and Liquous for medicinal purposes has been long feit by the profession, and thousands of lives have been sacrificed by the mac of adulterated articles. Delirium tremans, and other diseases of the erain and nerves, so rife in this country, are very rare in Europe, owing, in a great degree, to the difference in the purity of the spirits sold.

We have instead the second sec great degree, to the difference n the purity of the spirits sold.

We have tested the several articles imported and sold by you including your Gin, which you sell under the name of aromatic chiedam solmapps, which we consider justly estited to the high reputation it has sequired in this country; and from your long experience as a foreign importer, your sottled whese and Liquors should must be the same demand.

We would recommend you to appelle some of the respectable apottlescarical in district parts of the city as agents for the sale of your firancies and wines, where the preference can obtain the same when needed for mediatinal purposes.

We have a success in your new onterprise, we remain, your obedient servants,
